MATSON STEAMER PLANS APPROVED

Approval of the plans for the new steamer which the Matson Navigation Company is to have built for the San Francisco-Honolulu trade, was sent to the Coast yesterday on the steamer Hilonian, E. D. Tenney, president of Matson line, wrote to Captain Matson of the plans sent here, but Mr. Tenney gave data for some criticisms in the passenger arrangements, which, in all likelihood, will be accepted by Captain Matson.

The dining-room, which is to be a fine feature of the steamer, while large and well placed, according to Mr. Tenney's ideas, is not spacious enough. By way of comparison it may be said that the surroundings of the diningroom are similar to those of the Kinau. There are staterooms on either side. Between groups of rooms are open ways which lend to the side of the vessel where there are porthole ventilators. Mr. Tenney suggested to Captain Matson that at least in the forward portion of the dining-room that at least altogether thus affording a clear diningroom space from side to side, Mr. Tenney went over this feature carefully with a marine engineer. He also suggested an enlargement of the smokng room.

Mr. Tenney wrote that what the peobest of comforts even if space has to be sacrificed to arrive at this end. He traction and will cause the vessel to be one for which travelers will wait and not have to depend upon full lists on the overflow from better vessels.

Although the new steamer is not desenger accommodations, yet Mr. Tenney I believes in giving the traveling public believe it would be found that in these the best of comforts, roomy staterooms branches of trade nine-tenths of the and appurtenances that would be found VALUE OF THE LATE contracts are given to Orientals. This on the very best steamers. The new steamer, which may cost about a million dollars, is first of all to have a large cargo capacity, for the freight she carries will be the thing that pays.

The specifications for the new vessel were sent out by Captain Matson on November 27 and in a short time Honolulu may learn that the keel has been

DIVORCE COURT

The discovery that a couple who are seeking divorce were still living together as husband and wife, a lecture from the bench on the relation of intemperance to marital unhappiness, and a reconciled couple, were three of the incidents of a divorce hearing before Judge De Bolt yesterday.

Lilia Kaaumoana brought suit against her husband for divorce and the case was being heard before De Castle & Cooke, Ltd., agents for the Bolt yesterday afternoon. The woman was represented by C. F. Clemons and stating that there was general approval the man by Samuel F. Chillingworth. by those interested in the new venture, Failure to support was the ground of the petition. During the testimony of the woman, it came out, to the surprise of the attorneys on both sides, that since the suit had been begun the husband had sought his wife's forgiveness, promising amendment of life, and that she had forgiven him and they were living together again. They could not quite explain why it was that after this reconciliation they were still pressing the suit, but apparently it was because litigation wa new business to them and they did not know how to let go.

When it was learned that they were living together again Judge De Bolt took the couple in hand and began in-quiring into the cause of their difficul-ties. The woman said that when her husband did not drink he was a good husband but when he did drink, which tion of the dining room that at least was far too often, he spent his money two groups of staterooms be eliminated for liquor till there was nothing to keep house on. The man admitted that drinking was his besetting sin and that the domestic infelicity he and his wife suffered was all his fault,

Judge De Bolt gave them a lecture on the evils of the drink habit saying that in his experience on the bench it had appeared to him that drinking was directly or indirectly the cause of more ple want is a vessel that will have the divorces and domestic unhappiness than all other causes put together. He ex-acted a promise from the man that he be sacrificed to arrive at this end. He suggests that the people also want a vessel which will have such comforts that her accommodations will be an attraction and will cause the vessel to be carefully after the household and see that her husband had sufficient good food well prepared for his meals and that otherwise he should have a happy home as far as she was able to make it. Then the suit was dismissed, lawyers and clients shook hands all round, and, signed as a passenger vessel, pure and what very seldom happens, a lawsuit simple, but as a cargo vessel, with pasall parties.

MRS. HALL'S ESTATE

The report of the appraisers of the estate of the late Mary Dame Hall was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday. The appraisers were Alexander McBryde, W. A. Love and John Marcallino, The appraisement was as of March 16, 1908. It was as follows:

Three hundred and thirty-six shares C. Brewer & Co., $67,200; cash, $5273.50; 430 shares E. O. Hall & Son, $38,700; 84 shares Mutual Telephone. $672; 6 shares Hawaiian Electric, $840; 33 shares Paia Plantation Co., $4620; 168 shares Inter-Island S. N. Co., $19, 572; total, $136,877.50.

daughter, Mrs. Grace Thone, and a Puu-nui lot to her son, the petitioner, whom she appointed executor of the will, and the remainder of her property she divided equally among her other chil-dren, August Starkloff, John Schaffer, William Schaffer, Kate Schaffer and Minnie Bay. The estate is valued at about $1000.

Few Criminal Cases.

The criminal calendar in this circuit is very well cleaned up. There are that of George Kaleikini being the only serious one. There are about enough jury waived cases to take a week to try, and it is expected that scarcely any cases will go over to the next term for trial.

Thomas Makes Record Run

The transport Thomas came into port yesterday morning after one of the pleasantest trips the big troopship has made across the Pacific. After a record run from Honolule to Manila, via Guam, the Thomas left the Philippines November 15 for Nagasaki with her cabins comfortably full and fair weather ahead of her. She made Nagasaki on the morning of November 20, and left there at daylight the next day for the run to Honoluly. She made a for the run to Honolulu. She made a quick trip, the weather being pleasant practically every mile of the journey.

Thanksgiving Day was observed with more than usual ceremony. The passengers were treated to a genuine American Thanksgiving dinner by Steward Peterson and his assistants. The dining saloon was draped with flags and lighted with colored incandescents for the occasion. Each of the passengers was presented with a souvenir menu card that was handsomely designed, and not only made an excellent memento of the trip, but bore ele-quent testimony of the manner in which the transport officials look after the comfort, convenience and entertain-ment of the passengers. Monday even-ing a dance was given aboard ship, which was attended by all the passen-
